

Former graduate students

I am proud to say that I have worked with many wonderful graduate students over the years. What follows is a list of students for whom (I think) I served as an adviser, if not always the principal adviser. I have tried not to over-claim credit, so if you think you don't belong on this list let me know. Similarly, however, I am happy to claim credit for anyone who considers me to have been a substantial adviser – so if you feel I have left you off the list in error, also please let me know.
